

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Rev. Dr Osuji, Gregory Ekene, fms hails from Umuoka Amakohia-Ubi, in Owerri West L.G.A., of Imo State, Nigeria. He belongs to the Religious Institute of the Marist Brothers of the Schools (Catholic Mission). He is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Educational Foundations, and the Sub-Dean, Faculty of Education at Godfrey Okoye University Enugu, Nigeria. He holds a Ph.D. in Curriculum Studies and Instruction (The Catholic University of Eastern Africa, Nairobi, Kenya), a M.Ed. in Curriculum Studies (Imo State University, Owerri, Nigeria), and a BA/Ed in Religious Studies & Geography (The Catholic University of Eastern Africa, Nairobi, Kenya). Br. Ekene has taught in two Universities in Kenya. He has published four books and many peer reviewed empirical studies. He is a seasoned teacher, formator and youth minister. His research areas include: Youth empowerment and education, character formation and sustainable development.

Dr Everlyn Achieng' Oluoch-Suleh is a Senior Lecturer in the School of Education and subject leader-communication skills, Kabarak University, Kenya. She holds a Ph.D. in African Languages from the University of South Africa, MA (Linguistics) from the University of Nairobi, another MA in Intercultural Communication from the University of Stellenbosch, South Africa, B.Ed. (Linguistics/Literature) from the University of Nairobi and a Diploma in Education from Siriba Teachers' College, Maseno, Kenya. She is currently undertaking a Post Graduate Diploma in Higher Education -Teaching and Learning (SA). Before her current position, Dr Suleh was a Lecturer and Head of Department of Education at Marist International University College (MIUC); a Constituent College of the Catholic University of Eastern Africa. She also taught in several high schools in Kenya. Due to her interest in English language teaching and learning, she holds a Trinity Diploma in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) - United Kingdom (UK), a (TESOL) certificate – UK, and has Associateship to the College of Teachers (ACoT), UK. She has published four books and many peer reviewed empirical studies. Dr Suleh's research interests include: Theoretical linguistics, African languages, teaching of English as a second language, intercultural communication, multilingualism, education and sustainable development.

ISBN 978-9914-708-31-8

9 789914 708318

PEDAGOGICAL APPROACHES TO CHRISTIAN RELIGIOUS STUDIES CURRICULUM

Osuji, Gregory Ekene, fms
Everlyn A. Oluoch – Suleh

PEDAGOGICAL APPROACHES TO CHRISTIAN RELIGIOUS STUDIES CURRICULUM

Implications on Students' Character Formation

Osuji, Gregory Ekene, fms
Everlyn A. Oluoch – Suleh

